REACH THE SPOT.

To cure an aching back,
The pains of rheumatism,
The tired-out feelings,
You must reach the spot—get at the cause.

In most cases 'tis the kidneys.
Doan's Kidney Pills are for the kidneys.

Charles Bierbach, stone contractor, living at 2325 Chestnut St., Erie, Pa., says: "For two years I had kidney trouble, and there was such a severe pain through my loins and limbs that I could not stoop or straighten up without great pain, had difficulty in getting about and was unable to rest at night, arising in the morning tired and worn out. The kidney secretions were irregular and deposited a heavy sediment. Doctors treated me for rheumatism, but failed to help me. I lost all confidence in medicine, but Doan's Kidney Pills relieved me so quickly and so thoroughly that I gladly made a statement to that effect for publication. This was in 1898, and during the six years which have elapsed I have never known Doan's Kidney Pills to fail."

A FREE TRIAL of this great kidney medicine which cured Mr. Bierbach will be mailed on application to any part of the United States. Address: Foster-McMillan Co., Buffalo, N. Y. For sale by all druggists; price, 50 cents per box.

What the Caterpillar Said.

Written for the Advertiser
Recalling on an apple tree
A caterpillar said to me
Olive, confidentially and free,
I've noticed since my recent birth,
You people think you own the earth,
And make our lives of little worth
With worry.

"You never use the leaves we eat,
Your palates wouldn't find them sweet,
We're never underneath your feet,
Oh never!
Our tents are of no use to you,
That shelter us from storm and dew,
You do not care to eat us do you?
You ever?

"'Twas God created us. Now who
Thinks we are created for you?
How came he such an act to do
I wonder!
This world was quite a proper place
Before the grasping human race
Perverted every inch of space,
I wonder!

"You've such a very 'killing' way,
You kill for sport, at work or play,
You kill 'the grass' or for the way
To slaughter something night and day
All things that fly, or swim, or lay,
Or terrified would run or crawl,
Or are you just a beast of prey,
Or demon?

In butterfly, my face he eyed,
Then I med away in haughty pride
While I sat me down and cried,
Breast heaving,
They got my old black smoky torch,
I brandy out my face and said,
The caterpillars had to scorch
That evening.

Gov. Pingree Recalled.

The suggestion that Maine potatoes could be sent to San Francisco, recalled to mind the late Governor Pingree, a native of Maine.

It will be remembered that he advocated setting apart certain tracts of land for the cultivation of potatoes by the poor, and the experiment he made on a fairly large scale was successful.

Seen at Old Orchard some time later he said that he hit on the idea because potatoes are good eating, they are filling, they can be cooked cheaply, and they go well with almost anything else. He summed up the virtues of the potato rapidly and then said: "Don't you agree with me?"

Half a dozen said: "Yes governor," and he added with considerable vigor: "And it takes less brain work and agricultural knowledge to raise potatoes than to raise any other crop except yellow-eyed beans."

Plant Potatoes Deep.

One reason why potatoes rot is because they are not planted deep enough. Please make note of this, this spring, when planting potatoes if you do not wish to lose a good deal of summer's work by the potatoes rotting in the fall. Those that grow too near the surface are the ones that rot.

An answer to this question is what I greatly wish.
Does fishing make me a liar?
Or do only liars fish?

Original Outline Sketch
Of the Shakespearean Drama, "Romeo and Juliet."

In Romeo and Juliet, what better example of true love have we in fiction, or in real life? True, this portrayal is all legendary—a drama set forth in all its poetic charm and imagery, so that it becomes almost a part of the human nature, as contained in every part of this wonderful and renowned play. Romeo was enamored of his love Juliet, she being yet very young, and exceedingly fair in form and feature, and good as she was fair.

"All the world loves a lover." In as much as this fact is readily recognized, we quote a few of these lover's choice sayings between themselves during the wooing.

"For starry limits cannot hold love out, And what love can do, that dares love attempt."
"He looks at scars that never felt a wound."
"What's in a name? That which we call rose, would smell as sweet by any other name."
"Sleep dwell upon thine eyes, peace in thy breast!"
"Went but sleep, and peace so sweet to rest!"
"Good night, good night, sweeting is such a name, that I shall never sleep!"
"That I shall sorrow."

Although bitter enmity existed between Montague and Capulet, the houses of Romeo and Juliet, the son and daughter of the two households fell deeply in love. But the course of true love by no means ran smooth and in this mutual love they were destined to serious difficulties and direful woes. After a hasty and clandestine marriage, they were obliged to part. He exiled to escape more punishment which really it would seem he did not deserve.

Alas! full often upon the shoulders of another do the demerits and shame of the guilty fall. In the bitterness of their souls brave Romeo and fair Juliet were doomed at once to part. On the morrow at an early hour they parted, vowing ever to be true, and verily in thought, and in deed, in body and soul they were true. Ay, true as Heaven's own blue. Thus they parted for a time.

Capulet, the father of Juliet, and Lady Capulet, wished otherwise and demanded that she marry one Count Paris, a young nobleman. Because she refused to do so, her parents were extremely incensed, and unjust toward her. She would rather die, Ay! take her own life by cunning device than to forget her vows to her loved Romeo! Her nurse being her helper and confidante in times of need, she decides now to ask her advice and what she would better do. Her nurse tells her "As you may never see Romeo again, he can not be with you, I say marry this nobleman Paris. He is a sensible and good, O, he is a lovely gentleman." "Your first is dead, or good as that, and Paris excels him. Marry him." In words like these she advises Juliet. Faithful Juliet turns from her nurse in sorrow, having found no consolation in her words.

She goes to seek the cell of good friar Laurence, the Franciscan, determined to ask him to help her out of her difficulty. As she enters his cell she meets there a nobleman Paris whom her nurse had told her to marry on the Thursday following. He greets her in a lover's manner, she returning his words of greeting coolly and evasively. And as Juliet informed the friar she desired conversation with him he sent Count Paris away.

Juliet unfolds her sad story to the good friar, saying "God joined my heart to Romeo's, Thine own hands," etc., "Advise me." He answered "Hold daughter! I spy a kind of hope." He gave her a phial containing subtle fluid from which she might drink on the night before her marriage day that she fall into a deep sleep as one dead for several hours that her wedding day might be instead her funeral day. He promised in the meantime to communicate with her husband, Romeo, and advise him, so he would come covertly and discover her on her awakening in the old family vault, that is within the cemetery, to be united and happy. Thus to appease the wrath of her people, and stay the direful fate of this marriage, when already the faithful wife of another, which could end in only hatred and remorse without love's sanction, and false.

Juliet returns home with a lighter heart, her parents much delighted to notice what to them seemed her yielding to their wishes. They tell her they desire her to wed on the morrow. She enters her sleeping room, asking her nurse to leave her alone for this night, as she desires rest. Alone, she takes the fatal fluid, drinking to the dregs; and on the morrow, when the merry-making and music have already begun, she lies with senses steeped in a long trance, as one dead.

Her mother and nurse appear, entering her sleeping room and informing her that her lover, Paris, has come, with the musicians, and she still sleeping! But alas! On closer examination they find that she whom they would deck for her wedding day is not sleeping,—is dead!

O the horrors! O the lamentations! Father and lover are called. Father sorely bewails his disappointment and great sorrow. True, doubtless, the lover is also saddened extremely. The good friar, in the meantime, sympathizing with the lovers, with-holds their much ado, explaining that she is happier far as it is. So the obsequies were performed. The dead, tho' living Juliet, was placed within the family vault in the cemetery, and she was mourned as dead.

The good friar Laurence, in the meantime sends a message to Romeo, Juliet's husband, and tells him all the secret, telling him to come covertly, and with him discover his Juliet on her awakening from her long sleep, which he had wisely devised for the highest interest,—so he had hoped. But, through some mischance, Romeo did not receive the kind message. He only heard the sad story of his Juliet's death.

He sought her in grief and bitterness of spirit, beating with him a fatal draught, that on once more looking on her face, he determined to drink of it, and die. For what now were life without his beloved Juliet? He enters the vault, draws her forth from her resting place, with endearing words he kisses her. Dazed with sorrow he takes the life of the lover, Paris, who comes there to strew her early grave with flowers. He then drinks from the fatal cup, and, falling on Juliet's face, expires.

She at length recovers, but to find her Romeo dead. She kisses him, takes the dagger of Romeo's that she found beside her, and with it ends her life; what indeed was life to her without her beloved Romeo? "In death not divided."

A golden monument was raised to the memory of fair Juliet, and as richly was Romeo honored. And now in our awakened imagination we draw the curtain. So ends the sad and story of fair and faithful Juliet and her beloved true Romeo. JENNIE E. SNOW KIMBALL.

The Fountain of Youth, Health and Vigor.
DR. GREENE'S NERVURA
BLOOD AND NERVE REMEDY
The Most Wonderful Spring Remedy to Restore Health.

The world cares only for youth and vigor. It has no use for weak nerves, exhausted bodies, tired limbs, dull eyes, sunken cheeks.

We have learned that youth lies only in health. The sick man or woman is already old. Ask them: They will tell you how dreary they find the world, how weary they find life.

The secret of youth is health—the secret of health is Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy, which gives to all glowing, bounding health, vigorous strength—the strong nerves and pure blood of perfect health. It was prepared by Dr. Greene after years of study and practice among the sick. He discovered just what the nerves and blood need when they become run down, weakened and exhausted, and the result was Dr. Greene's Nervura, the world's greatest remedy.

It awaits every weak, weary mortal. Creep out from the dark shadow of Disease into the pure life-giving atmosphere which comes with the Sun of Health. Dr. Greene's Nervura will make a new being of you. It is the most magnificent spring tonic and restorative and in all diseases of the blood, nerves, stomach, liver and kidneys, it has no equal.

Miss M. HARTUNG, 230 Central Avenue, Brooklyn, N. Y., says:—"I am very pleased to be able to recommend Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy to all women sufferers. I was troubled with severe headache, dizziness and nervousness. A friend advised me to try Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy, which, she said, was a sure cure for such ailments as mine. I decided to give it a trial, and am very thankful that I followed her advice. I can safely say that Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy is worth its weight in gold to all women who suffer as I have done."

Dr. Greene, 34 Temple Place, Boston, Mass., is the most successful specialist in curing nervous and chronic diseases. He has remedies for all forms of disease, and offers to give free consultation and advice, personally or by letter. You can tell or write your troubles to Dr. Greene, for all communications are confidential, and letters are answered in plain, sealed envelopes.

Profit by This and Find Safeguard Against Many Ills.

Nothing is more important to Norway than the good health of her people. How can they fill their place in this busy town unless they are well?

No one trouble is responsible for more nervousness, sleeplessness, general debility, weakness, back-aches, rheumatic pains, even ill-temper and peevishness, than indigestion.

Fortunately, a combination of remedies, called Mi-o-na stomach tablets, has been discovered that absolutely cures indigestion and restores to health and strength the whole digestive system. The use of Mi-o-na is a safeguard against many ills; it acts directly upon the gastric glands, restores perfect action to the digestive organs, aids the assimilation of food, and so strengthens the whole digestive system that you can eat anything at any time without fear of indigestion.

Just one little tablet out of a 50 cent box of Mi-o-na before meals for a few days, and you will soon regain perfect health and strength, and be able to eat anything digestible without fear of stomach difficulties.

So reliable is Mi-o-na in curing all forms of stomach weakness and troubles that Norway Drug Store give a signed guarantee that the remedy will cost nothing unless it cures. Mi-o-na sells for 25 cents, and is invaluable to anyone who suffers with indigestion, nervousness or weak stomach.

New Smelter

Revolutionizes

Mining

Ex-Mayor Ashley of New Bedford Heads

Big Boston Syndicate-Stock of

Maggie Murphy Copper Company

Has Risen from 25c to 60c Share.

Boston, April 6. Ex-Mayor Charles

S. Ashley of New Bedford is the active head of a new syndicate just formed, for the purpose of exploiting a new method for smelting ore, which means a complete revolution in mining methods, says the Boston Post last Sunday. The new smelter will cost only

$300,000, whereas today a plant to refine the same ore would cost $300,000. This smelter means every miner can do his own smelting and that properties heretofore not worked can be with low grade ore at a big profit.

Ex-Mayor Ashley is the president of the Maggie Murphy Copper Company, one of the largest copper properties in Wyoming. Those who bought stock at 25c have reaped a profit of 130 per cent, as the market price has gone to 60c, and will advance still higher before long.

The remarkable story of how Ex-Mayor

Ashley secured control of the Maggie

Murphy mine, and the big copper strike, will be sent to anyone. Address Maggie

Murphy Copper Co., 16 State St.,

Boston.

Observance of May 30.

Commander-in-Chief Tanner of the Grand Army of the Republic issued his annual address to all Grand Army Posts regarding the services to be conducted on May 30, Memorial Day, to commemorate the memory of the Federal soldier dead. On this subject he says in part:

"Thirty years ago, when I was department commander of New York, in a suggested to the comrades of New York that wherever any Confederate soldier had found sepulchre among us, I trusted that when he went out to laud the graves of our Union dead that our common American manhood would prevent opponents without dripping thereon some flural remembrance."

"Not, I said in honor of their cause for that we opposed, fought and conquered, but because we who met them on the field of battle know that braver men or better soldiers have not been known since men were first marshaled in battle array."

"We were then scarce a dozen years away from Appomattox, but the suggestion seemed to meet with very general approval. To the order at hand I now confidently make the same suggestion."

"We have returned the battle standards of the dead Confederacy to those who treasure them as sacred mementos of their loved ones who died under the flag of the United States. We have just unanimously voted $200,000 to care for the graves of those dead and the heart of the nation has said with great unanimity, 'It is well.'"

"United we march along the highway of nations, rose bushes blooming over and around, and the birds nesting in the mouths of the cannon that once roared defiance and death at each other, the world applauding, our conscience approving."

"If soldiers of the South still sit like Rachel of olden times, 'weeping for their children' and refusing to be comforted because they are not, let the news go down to them that on our most sacred day we feel it a privilege to stand in the place of their far distant kinsman and lovingly mark their last resting place with God's sweetest emblem of peace, flowers."

"The old flag has been furled since 1865 with the blood of the North and the South alike and the Ship of State is securely anchored for all time."

The order closes with a quotation of Lincoln's address at Gettysburg, which it is directed shall be read at all Memorial Day exercises.

What to Teach Your Daughter.

Teach her that one hundred cents make one dollar.

Teach her how to wear a simple muslin dress and to wear it like a queen.

Teach her how to sew on buttons, darn stockings and mend gloves.

Teach her to dress for health and comfort, as well as for appearance.

Teach her to arrange the parlor and the library.

Teach her to love and cultivate flowers.

Teach her to have a place for everything and to put everything in its place.

Teach her to say no and mean it and to say yes and stick to it.

Teach her to have nothing to do with intemperance and dissolute young men.

Teach her to pay regard to the character of those she would associate with, and not to how much money they have.

Itching piles provoke profligacy, but profligacy won't cure them. Doan's Ointment cures itching, bleeding or protruding piles after years of suffering. At any drug store.

Maxim's Maxims.

The fact that a man thinks he knows it all is no proof that he actually does.

The man who is "all carried away" with the love of money finds it very difficult to be honest.

All men are not born "free and equal." Some are bound by inherited limitations.

People could buy more of the necessities of life if they didn't buy so many of the unecessaries.

"As a man thinketh so is he," and as a man is so he will think.

"Just as Good" Paint

You never hear of a paint better than Pure White Lead and Pure Linseed Oil. "Just as good" is what they say. Pure White Lead and Pure Linseed Oil are acknowledged to be the standard by which all paints are measured.

The skillful painter invariably prefers to use it, and mix it himself. He knows that his business reputation is best built by the use of that paint which will give you the most satisfactory results.

He knows Pure White Lead wears evenly, and when ground in Pure Linseed Oil has greater elasticity and adhesive force than any other paint known.

He knows, too, that the best results are obtained only when the paint is mixed with special reference to the surface to be painted.

To make sure of the best White Lead tell your painter to use

RED SEAL

Pure White Lead

(Made by the Old Dutch Process)

Your interest and the painter's are identical. Adulterated paint will peel, crack or blister, however skillfully laid on.

The result for you is an early expenditure for repainting, and all pretty ones.

Send for a booklet containing several hundred actual houses, offering valuable suggestions for a color scheme in painting your home. Test for paint purity in all cases.

While she is so lame yet she goes across the road often to her mother's, Mrs. Burnham's, with her pots of roses for her aunt, Mrs. Colby, to see and enjoy. Mrs. Colby cannot walk but little.

Business at L. H. Burnham's mill seems prosperous and rushing. The banks of the bay above the mill are nearly cleared of lumber, while five weeks ago they were so bountifully packed with lumber. One shore of the bay yet remains laden with nice long lumber. The little bay is a lovely spot to look upon. You can look to the lake up above the falls and the waters seem literally covered with logs. The writer asked the question if the lumber could all be sawed this spring. The reply was "Yes, if help stay and everything is all right." I said to myself Mr. Burnham is the business man who starts right and the business goes right all the way along.

HARRISON.

They all Fought Fire. Quite a shock was given the people last Saturday by the fire set by Sumner Whitney and his man in his field at the head of the pond. It spread rapidly in the under brush on the Kimball lot. Men, women and children turned out to fight fire, but as good luck would have it the wind changed and so saved doing an extensive damage.

Carnations and Good Cheer. The last meeting of the club year was held by the Wyonegonies at the home of Mrs. Ada Chapman, Tuesday afternoon, April 24th. The rooms were fragrant with carnations (the club flower.) As this was the annual meeting, the election of officers and plans for the future took up considerable time, after which the following program was rendered. Twelve members in answer to the roll call responded with numerous selections, papers on Maud Ballington Booth, Frances Willard and Humorous writers by Anna Smith, song by the club.

At the close of the afternoon the hostess invited all present to repair to the dining room, where a dainty lunch was served by Mrs. Chapman and Mrs. Dudley. The arrangement of the table was perfect, a large Easter lily occupying the center of the table and by each plate was a beautiful carnation. The lunch consisted of salad, bread, butter, pickles, cakes and cocoa. The ladies lingered long around this cheerful spread and when the time came for them to take leave, they said "good-bye" with many regrets that they would not meet again until fall and many thanks to those who had done so much to make this, the last meeting of the year a pleasant one.

NORWAY AND VICINITY.

Millett-Porter.

There was a very pretty wedding, Thursday afternoon, the contracting parties being well-known and popular Norway young people, Randall O. Porter and Harriet W. Millett. The wedding was at three o'clock at the house on upper Main street that they have recently fitted up for their future home. The rooms were tastefully decorated with potted plants. The marriage service was impressively performed by Rev. E. S. Oton of the Baptist church, only the relatives of the bride and groom being present. The guest of honor was Mr. Porter's grandfather, Randall York of Damariscotta, gentleman 80 years of age. Of the ten guests five of them were aunts.

The bride looked lovely in a traveling suit of light gray. She is the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Nathan W. Millett, both of Norway's old and esteemed families, whose large farm was in Millettville and where Mrs. Porter lived till the death of her parents broke up the home. She has since made her home with an aunt, her mother's sister, Helen Noyes, in the village. She graduated from Norway High school, class of 1902, and has since been bookkeeper in the office of B. F. Spinnery & Co. Mr. Porter came here from Damariscotta several years ago. He is a clerk in E. J. Porter's clothing store. They both have numerous friends as the large number of wedding presents testify.

After the ceremony and the dainty "Wedding Bells," the little bridal couple, with the bridesmaids and bridesmaids, proceeded to a wedding breakfast. The guests had written their names on the guests' page, congratulations were offered and light refreshments served, the happy couple went away on the down express for a short wedding trip. They had thought to keep the date of the marriage a secret, but their friends discovered the secret and they surrounded the house, armed with large quantities of rice and old shoes. They decorated the car. The electric track ends in front of this house and during the stop between trips gave ample time for a finished job. These friends did not leave them here but boarded the car and went to South Paris and saw them safely started on the Grand Trunk. Lots of good wishes go with them on their life journey.

Letter to C. F. Eldon.

Norway, Maine.

Dear Sir: You sell a good many things by the gallon. Being a decent man, you give full measure.

You know what we mean: you know that short weight and short measure are common among—well, we hope the dealers are no short measures and weights in your town.

There are, though. Ribbons and laces and trimmings, sold by the "dozen," measure nine or ten yards. There is no complaint, because "they all do it." You have the same plague in your goods—nearly everything, canned or bottled, cheats in the quantity. Almost nobody gives full weight in a factory-package!

We are one of the almost nobodies. We sell paint, by the gallon, to paint your house; and our gallon is just the same size as yours that you measure vinegar with—231 cubic inches.

Good paint too—Devon lead-and-zinc—takes fewer gallons than most paint and wears twice as long as lead-and-oil. You own a house. That's why we are writing to you. Yours truly,

F. W. Devore & Co.

F. P. Stone sells our paint.

Base Ball Opens.

Hebron Wins from the Radcliffe Team in a Close and Interesting Game, Fast Day.

In the opening game of the season, Fast Day, the Radcliffe team was trounced by the Hebrons to the score of 11 to 10.

It was a rather loosely played but interesting game, and the result was in doubt until the last man was out in the ninth inning.

The day was too cold for good base ball, nevertheless a big crowd was present; most everyone had their overcoat on. Bearce came over with his fur coat on and wore it when not in the field.

The ninth inning was exciting. With the score 8 to 7 in favor of the home team the Hebrons got busy; Vasconcellos, the first man up, singled, and was forced out at second by McClintock; Wilson singled; Shaw dropped Gardner's long fly; Caldwell put up a high one for DeWolf; Shaw made his second error of the inning on Roger's fly; McFarland singled; and Curtis was out to Hayes, and 4 runs had been chalked up.

In the Radcliffe's half, McShane, the first up, knocked out his fourth hit of the game, Cole went out to the pitcher, DeWolf put one to deep left for three bases, sending in McShane, on the throw in to the plate to catch McShane the ball went high and DeWolf scored; Bearce singled; Shaw sent a fly up to Stanwood and Fifield put one on the grass that Stanwood gathered up for an assist to McClintock and the game was over with the home team one to the bad.

Features of the game were McShane's batting—4 hits in as many times up, and Hayes' running catch of a foul fly.

Fast Day Indoor Rifle Tournament.

At the indoor rifle tournament at Portland, Fast day, Lieut. M. P. Stiles of Co. D won the third prize in the Col. Hale trophy match, a Morris chair in Class A.

This is what a Portland paper says: "In third place was Lieut. M. P. Stiles of Norway, coach of the State team, who not only made 48 but did it three times, yet was outstripped by Connolly and Warren, Lieut. Stiles was the high man for the day, taking all his shooting in consideration, for he put in 11 full strings with an aggregate of 516 out of a possible 550." His score:

Five Hundred Apple Trees.

Frank L. Barrett of Barrett (Sumner) called on us last Saturday. He believes in apples. It's a crop that pays he says. He is setting out this spring an orchard of 500 trees, principally of Baldwins, Ben Davis and Wealthy apples. These varieties are good sellers of his orchard. He has an orchard of 500 that have been set some four years and are just beginning to bear. Mr. Barrett says he paid a man in Wilton $1300 for apples taken from an orchard which had been set only 8 years.

Mr. Barrett has two sisters who live in San Francisco and he has not heard from them since the earthquake except that he saw in a Boston paper the name of Fannie Barrett among the dead. Of course he is anxiously waiting to hear from them. His sister, Mrs. Evelyn Hook, has lived in that city almost 40 years and Fannie went there some four years ago to care for Mrs. Hook, who is an invalid.

SOUTH PARIS.

Mrs. Lucella Morton and Mrs. George B. Crockett are visiting relatives in the vicinity of Boston.

Rev. A. R. Crane D. D. of Hebron occupied the pulpit of the Baptist church Sunday morning in exchange with the pastor.

Geo. B. Crockett returned from an extended business trip through the middle and southern states Tuesday afternoon. He is looking considerably tanned and reports a much more genial climate not far South than he found here on Tuesday.

Rev. A. K. Baldwin president of the Oxford Local Union of Christian Endeavor has planned an excellent program for the C. E. Convention to be held at Mechanic Falls May 8 and 9. Some of the best speakers of the State are to be present and everyone interested in Christian Endeavor work ought to attend.

Alfred Fuller of South Paris High School, 100, is taking a position in Atwood's Market, Lewiston.

Croup Quickly Cured.

A few doses of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy bring surprising results when a child shows symptoms of croup. There is no cause for alarm when this medicine is in the house as it rarely takes more than three or four doses to bring about a complete cure. It has never failed even in the most severe and dangerous cases and no home where there are small children can afford to be without it. For sale by Noyes Drug Store, Norway; Shurtliff's, South and West Paris.

A Sixty-Two Year Old Norway Advertiser.

Uncle Abner Buck of Norway Lake celebrated his 62nd birthday last Friday, the 27th. There are only six older men in town five of whom live in the village.

Among other things he visited this office and presented it with a copy of the Norway Advertiser of May 31, 1844, sixty-two years last past. It was volume 1 and number 9 printed and edited by Ira Berry and F. Blake Jr. It contains a good deal more "home news" than the usual papers of that period.

Most nine columns are devoted to reporting State vs. Hiram Totherly, a case of manslaughter. Of the 24 witnesses only Osgood Perry is now living to our knowledge. None of the 12 jury men are now living. This was a stabbing affair at a hunking of Dresser Stevens from the effects of which Ebenezer W. Hobbs died two days after. The two boys were about 13 years of age. The jury after being out five hours did not agree, 7 were for acquittal and 5 were for conviction.

At a second trial Totherly was found guilty and sentenced to one year in the County Jail. After serving the term Totherly went to Portland and enlisted in the Mexican war, was wounded and died in a hospital.

No one whose name appears among the advertising columns are now living. Among the big advertisers was A. C. Dennison & Co., who occupied a 5 inch space. They occupied an equal amount of space. The advertising is unusually well set and displayed though there was just a little more than four columns of it.

Among the names familiar to the old inhabitants are those of Thomas Higgins, Wm. Andrews, P. B. Frost, Robert Noyes, Horatio Cole, Ezra F. Beal, Elliott Smith, Ephraim Brown, Lee Mixer, Asa Danforth, Charles Walton and Hall & De Wolf who kept the "old yellow store" at Norway village.

A child of Enoch Caldwell of Greenwood, aged 8 years was killed by a cart body falling on it. A lecture is told in the paper of the criminal carelessness of a cart body standing at the end. The sermon is as good to-day as 62 years ago.

The electro-magnetic telegraph connected Washington and Baltimore, about 40 miles apart and intelligence is communicated in but a few seconds of time. A question can be asked in one city, and answered from the other, in less than a minute. Just think of it! Forty miles in a minute.

The Advertiser to-day in its office can talk with the other end of the country in a few seconds of time. A question of miles away to say nothing of wireless telegraph and the wonders of the phonograph.

HIRAM.

Another Man's Opinion of Roads.

Our roads are in bad condition this spring owing to the slowness of the frost and heavy loaded teams. At one place who has been traveling twenty-three miles over a certain piece of road every day excepting Sunday for three years should know how a road should be built.

This is what a Portland paper says: "Every year and will get back to primitive ways or to San Francisco calf path. Just as long as we continue the practice of cutting away the turf between the roadbed and the ditch, disturbing the ditch every year, and letting the water soak through and through the roadbed, just as long as we do this we shall not have comfortable roads to ride over.

There should be more culverts to drain the water from the side of the road. The whole road is built up in a heap scooped up from outside, leaving holes for the water to stand all summer, keeping the bed of the road soaked with water and soil, so when heavy teams pass deep ruts are formed. The water gets in and we have a mud hole all summer.

And another thing I would like to speak about, the bushes that are left to grow up in the road. In some places on my travel they are growing over the road, and even close up to the ditch. When they have been building the road with the machine I have seen them drive their team through the bushes when you couldn't see the off ox. Cut the bushes down, which is what they gave us, and keep them out with the exception of good trees at regular intervals trimmed up and left for shade trees. Take the rocks out, haul them off, not throw them over the other side into the ditch as is often the practice. Within the road every year, keep the ditch outside of the road with a good drainage, then we will have a good roadbed the year round.

John Clemons and Ada Rankin were married last week, Rev. H. H. Hoyt officiating.

Mrs. George Mason has gone to Biddeford for the summer. Her husband will act as foreman on the Isaac Lowell farm.

Charles Bean of Brownfield has moved his family into the Charles Clemons home, which is owned by Charles Hill.

I. S. Lowell and family are about to move to Baldwin. Isaac is to run a steam mill and his wife will take boarders this summer.

Rev. H. H. Hoyt, our Universalist minister, is given to cleanliness as we saw him with his rake and pruning knife clearing his grounds and trimming the majestic elms.

Mrs. Maud Hartford, who has been in the Maine General hospital for a few months, was brought home on her bed, Tuesday. There isn't much hope of her recovery.

Samuel L. Clemons is confined to his house and receives daily visits from the doctor. Sam has been foreman on the M. O. R. R. for thirty years and there hasn't been many days in the time but what he has been able to perform his daily labor.

Artemas Ward's Last Words to a Friend.

In the issue of April 20 you notice Artemas Ward and his spelling. It calls up an incident of "long ago." I was with him when he was dying. He was a familiarly called him, and we were just proud of his success but lamented his travels. In 1883 we were companion travelers on the stage from South Paris to Boston, when he had a stroke and was unable to talk over his adventures. Just before parting I said "Charles, why will you punish so much whiskey?" With his imitable drollery and facial mimicry he replied "I do not know unless it is because I have such a wry (rye) face." Changing his tone as if to apologize for this seeming mistatement he continued, "I think a great deal of this face, it is the best one I ever had and my mother gave it to me!"

Further comment was unnecessary as he clasped hands in "good-bye," our final parting on this side.—[H. Russell Foster, an Albany boy of 60 years ago, now of Denver, Col.]

Doctor Brigham Says

MANY PHYSICIANS PRESCRIBE

Lydia E. Pinkham's

Vegetable Compound

The wonderful power of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound over the diseases of womanhood is not because it is a stimulant, not because it is a palliative, but simply because it is the most wonderful tonic and reconstructive ever discovered to act directly upon the generative organs, positively curing disease and restoring health and vigor.

Marvelous cures are reported from all parts of the country by women who have been cured, trained nurses who have witnessed cures and physicians who have recognized the value of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and are fair enough to give credit where it is due.

If physicians dared to be frank and open, hundreds of them would acknowledge that they constantly prescribe Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in severe cases of female ills, as they know by experience it can be relied upon to effect a cure. The following letter proves it.

During the past year, of 4 Brigham Park, Pittsburgh, Mass., writes:

"It gives me great pleasure to say that I have found Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound very efficacious, and often prescribed in my practice for female difficulties.

"My oldest daughter found it very beneficial for female troubles some time ago, and my youngest daughter is now taking it for a female weakness, and is surely gaining in health and strength.

"I freely advocate it as a most reliable specific in all diseases of the female system, and give it honest endorsement."

Women who are troubled with painful or irregular periods, bloating (or flatulency), weakness of organs, displacements, inflammation or ulceration, can be restored to perfect health and strength by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. If advice is needed write to Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. She is daughter-in-law of Lydia E. Pinkham and for twenty-five years has been advising sick women from Norway, and one of the best living persons has had the benefit of a wider experience in treating female ills. She has guided thousands to health. Every suffering woman should ask for and follow her advice if she wants to be strong and well.

Maine's Young Journalist.

Harry Packard Rapidly Coming to Front in Newspaper Field.

By George Allan Ellwood in Boston Sunday Post

People who have their eyes open for "coming" men must have already discerned one in the person of Harry A. Packard, independent newspaper correspondent of Norway, and one of the most hustling fellows in New England. Although only 19 years old, he has already served a literary apprenticeship of seven years, having ventured out to the stormy sea of letters when but 12.

At this early age, when most boys are engaged in simple sports, Packard was printing a miniature but interesting boys' paper, which ran for some time and did him great credit.

The following year he produced four short stories. All of which have been published. A little later, when only 15, he found employment with the Lewiston Journal, exchanging his school books for the larger education of real life.

During his stay with this employer, he visited and "wrote up" the Lakes, White Mountains, Virginia and other Southern States. As a member of the First Maine Volunteers, National Guard, he toured the eastern part of the country from Maine to Mississippi, making good use of his trip to furnish material for an interesting series of newspaper articles. His first productions foot up over 180 news columns—an astonishing record for a boy not yet 18.

His first story, dealing with camping out in the woods—a subject which especially attracts him—Packard sold to a leading Boston paper. To this story, with its illustrations, all taken by him, was accorded the honor of a full-page "feature." Ever since that time he has been a regular correspondent of Boston dailies. This work has all been in addition to his regular correspondence for Maine papers.

Not content with being a facile writer, Packard is an expert photographer, having already sold over 200 photographs to papers and magazines. His work in character studies, boys' stories, hunting, fishing and camping yarns, snow shoeing, and other outdoor narratives, totals up over 175 pages of newspaper matter. In addition, he has written ten stories of various lengths for the Board of Trade Magazine, dealing with a number of Maine industries and pleasure resorts, and has found time to contribute to a number of magazines, among them the Maine Sportsman, Modern Prill, New York World, Star Monthly, Lewiston Journal, Outdoor Life, American Boy and New England Magazine.

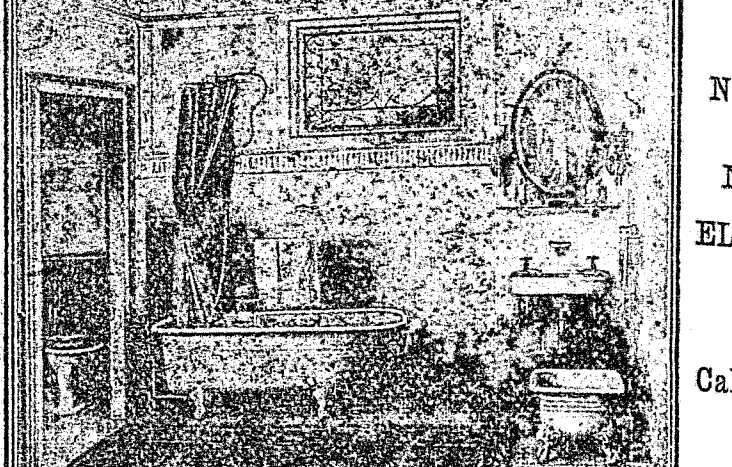

He has been extensively favored with interviews by celebrities, including Lieutenant R. E. Peary of North Pole fame; Douglas Volk, the New York artist; the Hon. John D. Long, John S. Hyde of Bath, and United States Senator William F. Frye. Packard is a born "interviewer." He has succeeded in this difficult and tactful work where older men have failed, and if the story is to be had at all, he is practically certain to get it.

His work deals mostly with topics of timely interest, showing a preponderance of outdoor atmosphere and the good fellowship of camp and stream. A series of 18 articles dealing with scientific nature studies demonstrates his most serious proclivities. He is a strongly built, optimistic chap, with great aspirations and a genuine talent for hard, close work.

His ambition leads him to contemplate a series of boys' books at a later date, when he shall have become more firmly established in his style. He seems to be a thorough-going scientist in spirit—what is called a "materialist"—with little sympathy for the mystery and superstition which are now rapidly declining to their total extinction. He is a man of mind which makes him typical of the new generation.

Those who know the materialistic and rational propaganda that George Howe has been carrying on with the young men of that town, to train and educate them, will perceive his influence in Packard's work. If signs do not fail, Harry Packard has a brilliant future in store for him.

Gift of 100 Ranges,

Taunton Concern's Practical Aid to San Francisco Sufferers is 100 Ranges, Sent Direct.

Taunton, April 23—Taunton has the credit of being the first city in New England to contribute goods directly for the relief of the sufferers at San Francisco.

Monday there left from Boston a carload of 100 Glenwood Ranges consigned to San Francisco. These ranges were given by the Weir Stove Company of Taunton, Mass.

When the firm heard of the calamity, it realized that cooking ranges would be one of the things needed immediately as there are none made in California.

The ranges will be rushed forward as soon as possible and should get there within a week.

Thousands Have Kidney Trouble and Never Suspect It.

How To Find Out.
Fill a bottle or common glass with your water and let it stand twenty-four hours; a sediment or settling indicates an unhealthy condition of the kidneys; if it stains your linen it is evidence of kidney trouble; too frequent desire to pass it or pain in the back is also convincing proof that the kidneys and bladder are out of order.

There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed, that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy, cures every wish in curing rheumatism, pain in the back, kidney liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passage. It corrects inability to hold water, and relieves pain in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often during the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest test of being a cure for the most distressing cases. If you used a medicine you should have the best. Sold by druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar sizes. You may have a sample bottle and a book that tells all about it, by sending your name to the address below.

Address Dr. J. C. Kilmer, Swamp-Root Co., Box 589, Freeport, N. Y. When writing mention this paper and don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Freeport, N. Y.

The Late Bartlett Doe.
Bartlett Doe, a native of Parsonsfield, died in San Francisco several hours after the earthquake. He and his brother went to California when young. The two boys bought heavily of San Francisco real estate and thus laid the foundation of their fortune. He was owner of the St. Nicholas hotel, one of the finest in San Francisco, and head of the lumber firm of B. & J. S. Doe. The Doe estate was among the largest of all Californian properties and the loss to the owners by fire is between $5,000,000 and $6,000,000.

He did not forget his former town and he remembered Parsonsfield by an endowment of $100,000 to the Parsonsfield seminary. This endowment was followed by the gift of a new building to the seminary. It was dedicated five years ago. Bates college was also remembered with $50,000.

Mr. Doe was probably the most successful of Maine's sons who sought fame and fortune in the West. He was over 60 years old.

The Woman Whose Name Begins with U.

Many years have passed since, but I cannot forget.
How deeply I once was plunged into debt. By a woman whose name began with U. I counted on her "charity" but "daring," her "dear,"
And I, fellow, believed she was true.
The woman whose name began with U.
We went to theaters, operas and balls. I bought her silk dresses, and cloaks and shawls.
And hats and ribbons of every hue.
For the woman whose name began with U.
When my money was all gone my credit was good.
So we both dressed in style as long as we could.
At last they shut down, and threatened to sue. Then I found that she had let me to sign. I read my sad fate in the wink of her eye. So unworthy, unloving, unfaithful, untrue. Proved the woman whose name began with U. West Bethel, Me. EDWIN RUTHERFORD BRIGGS.

WEST SUMMER.

Social and Religious Life.
The S. B. R. club was entertained last Thursday by Mrs. W. T. Bisbee. Shakespeare was the poet; current events by Mrs. Ella Chandler; recitations were given by Mrs. M. P. Heald, Beulah Robinson and others. After the regular reading, guessing contest, occupied the time. Alphabetical puzzle, Mrs. Ella Bonney, and bird puzzle, Mrs. M. A. Heald were very amusing. Refreshments of cake and ice cream were served and all voted it the liveliest club of the season.

After the winter's long silence it was thought not fitting that Easter should pass without a tribute of praise. A concert was held at 7.30. The church was very prettily decorated with evergreens, Easter bells and potted plants. The following program was in charge of Geo. A. Chandler:

"Buck Fever by Gosh."

Man Who Saw a Big Bear Had a Bad Case of It.

The old guide sat on the front porch, lazily blowing smoke at the mosquitoes from his pipe. His theme was the curious action of people when they see deer "buck fever." He called the peculiar action "buck fever."
"Yes, sir, when I was guiding it, I saw lots of people have 'buck fever.' They act the queerest way you ever see when they get it. Why, I have actually seen men drop their guns on the ground when they saw a deer, or sometimes they shoot into the air or into the ground, thinking they are filling the animal full of holes. They actually go plumb crazy. About every man has a way of his own of acting when he's got the fever. Some will stare and gape away and not think a thing of their gun. But the queerest case I ever heard of or see was when I had a party from New York up to Twin Lakes. One of the men in that party went clean crazy, and it took him nigh on to an hour before he came out of it. He wasn't violent, or anything of that sort, but just out of his head. It was a bear that gave him the buck fever, and I suppose that's why he got it so bad."
"It was one morning at breakfast time that it all happened. I was cooking 'taters, venison and other stuff to eat, while the fellows went down to the brook and washed themselves. They had all washed up except one fellow who was late getting up. He went down to the brook alone, and by and bye he came back. When he came into the door the first thing he did was to stand on one foot and swing around on his other foot in the air. I looked at him and thought he was doing it for fun, but I remember afterwards that his eyes sort of bugged out a little. After he swung around he went to the towel, and wiped his face. After he did that he up and swung around on the toes of his foot again. Then he took his toothbrush and a cup of water and washed his teeth, and when he got up I'll be blowed if he didn't up and swing around on the toes of his shoe with his other foot in the air, just as he did before."
"Steve is happy to-day," said one of the fellows, "must be he is going to kill a deer." Stevenson said he was, but planted himself before the looking glass and began combing his hair. Pretty quick he finished, and took another swing around. He whipped out a funny kind of knife and fixed up his finger nails, swung around, pulled up his tie, then his coat, and, idiotic like, swung around after he did each of these things. It was crazy actions but we supposed he was just doing it for fun."
"Then he got down his gun, jammed it full of cartridges and started for the door. 'Where are you going?' said I. 'Breakfast's about ready.' 'Bear!' he said, and he up and swung around, and his eyes popped and stuck out like a scared owl's. I jumped and grabbed my gun and made for the door with the other fellow after me. We run down to the brook. Stevenson came along and pointed to where he'd seen the bear. Well, the man had been so long fixing up that I knew the bear was on the side of the mountain by that time. But we went down the brook where it had been, and there, in the sand, was the biggest tracks of a bear I ever saw."
"When Stevenson shot and he stuck one foot in the air, whirled around and fell to the ground in a deep faint. We poured some whiskey down his throat, and before long he came to. He was weak and shook all over. Did I kill him?" he said. "I haven't seen him. I've forgot what had happened after he went to the brook to wash. When we told him what he'd been doing, he seemed surprised. 'Why,' he said, 'when I got through washing I stood up and looked down the brook and saw a bear, an enormous bear drinking from the water. I whirled around on one foot and started for camp and the gun, as I suppose.'"
"Buck fever, by gosh," said I, and we all laughed hard, but, for, as I say, it was a most curious case."

Stories of the War.

By the Middle Intervals Correspondent.
Our soldier friend gives us more information occasionally in regard to war records and other items of interest. Soldiers are dying at the rate of forty thousand a year and more on the pension roll now than ever.
There are about 1,000,000 on the pension roll of the United States and some over 600,000 of these are old soldiers and the balance are widows and their children. There are an unknown army of from 150,000 to 200,000 old soldiers that are well to do. None of them expected a pension or a Soldier's Home when they enlisted, and the gracious and benevolent government has provided for them ever since.
There are army nurses that draw pensions. Clara Barton and Dr. Mary Walker both draw pensions as army nurses. Clara Barton has been president of the Red Cross Society, that goes into battle fields to attend to the wounded and dying. She has been seen among the suffering soldiers shot and killed, lying all around her but she kept on, heeding nothing but her call of duty, helping the sick and dying.
A little incident in the Rebellion in 1862 was an American, a German and an Irishman on picket duty. There was 1st, 2nd and 3rd relief. The first relief was an American and the countersign was Potomac. It was a German on the second relief and an Irishman on the third. The German named over the countersign to the Irishman when they met. "When the American came around to relieve the Irishman he turned over the countersign as 'buttermilk.'"

Name the Country Home.

Many of us find it extremely difficult to suggest a name for our country home. Sometimes, as in England, the names are descriptive, sometimes initiative and often the whimsical names of some of the members of the family are united. Some very pretty names are taken from the color of the paint or stone. "Grey-stone" is one of the best examples of this utilization of colors in the choice of names in a country place. "Red Top" was the name of a home near Washington belonging to ex-President Cleveland; and he also had another place named "Gray Gables." "Berthelmy" is an attractive combination of Bertha and Ellen. The Christian or surname is often used backwards, as Robert gives us "Trebor," and Edward "Dawde," women's names can be used in many ways, as "Mary Lawn," "Graceland," or "Rose- place," etc.

Names of trees give a pretty and descriptive title or a combination of names of trees that grow near a home. We have "Cedar Park," "Four Oaks," "Linden- shade," "Maplehurst," "Elmhurst," or "Pennyroyal," "Albion," etc.

"Brook" is also charmingly combined, as "Silverbrook," "Hillbrook," "Clearbrook," and many others that will suggest themselves.

"Ingleside," "Best Cottage," "Heart- ease," "Hope Farm," are all lovely names.

The suffix "mere" is always beautiful, as "Bismere," in the place of elms; Willowmere," is more beautiful than willow.

Sometimes names are taken from the fruits growing on the place, as "Apple- blossom," "Grapehill," "Peachbloom." Some of the prettiest names for a country home are taken from flowers that grow in profusion about the place, "Wildrose," "Cloverbrook," "Lilac Lodge," and "Violet Villa."

If the home is built on the hill, "Rock- ledge," "Hilltop," or "Hillbrook," are always appropriate.

"Fernbank" is applicable where ferns abound.

Names taken from birds are very attractive, as "Swallowhome," "Wren- nest," "Eaglestone," "The Dove Cote," and "Pigeon Place."
